WILL TRY ONCE MORE TO BRING HOBECK BACK

Man Who Walked Out of Bluefield Jail Under Arrest in Ohio.

WAYMACK GOES FOR PRISONER
Police Sergeant Says He Will Deliver Prisoner in Richmond or Not Come Back—He Is Charged With Stealing Gasoline Launch.

There was gloom in the voice of Police Sergeant W. E. Waymack and jubilation in his eye as he stood in the office of Governor Stuart yesterday afternoon expressing his thanks for an executive paper that had just been placed in his hand by Secretary Alexander Forward.

"By the great horn spoon!" the police sergeant ejaculated. "I am going after this fellow Hobeck as fast as railroad trains can carry me. He got away from me once. That was his fault. If he gets away from me again I will be his fault. And, believe me, you will not see him no more. I love my wife and kiddies, but I love my job back here with Hobeck I will have to leave them, for I won't come back empty-handed."

Sergeant Waymack left for Cincinnati on the 6:40 clock train last night. He will be in Columbus, Ohio, this afternoon. He carries with him Governor Stuart's requisition on Governor James M. Cox for the surrender to the Richmond police of William C. Hobeck, memories of whom have haunted Waymack many months. Hobeck is in jail in Newark, Ohio, where he was arrested several days ago and held as a fugitive from justice from Virginia.

CHARGED WITH THEFT OF GASOLINE LAUNCH

As the sergeant relates the story, Hobeck pilfered a gasoline launch, the property of W. C. Wilmer, of Williamsburg, and carried it to South Hamburg and removed the engine from the boat. He sold the hull in Williamsburg, then shipped the engine to Lynchburg. This disposing of Wilmer's launch, Hobeck set out to visit his sweetheart in Newark, Ohio. Detective Captain McMahon learned of the movements of Hobeck and put Sergeant Waymack on the case. They got into contact with the Newark police, and when Hobeck turned up on his spooning expedition, May 29, he was nabbed and jailed. Sergeant Waymack went out to Ohio and got the prisoner. Returning east with him, they were compelled to spend the night in Bluefield, W. Va.

"I turned the prisoner over to the keeper at the Bluefield jail," the sergeant relates, "and went to a hotel. I was awakened in the morning by a policeman, who informed me that my prisoner had escaped during the night. I went to the jail to investigate. How he escaped is a mystery. I have never solved. He certainly didn't break out by force. It was plain to me that somebody opened a door and the prisoner walked out."

SENT MOCKING POST-CARD TO SERGEANT WAYMACK

"I was pretty mad, I tell you. The longer I thought it over the madder I got. But I got maddest when, a few days after I returned to Richmond, I received a post-card from that impudent rascal, dated at some little town in Canada. That rascal had the impudence to write to me:

"Dear Pal—How did you like the folks in West Virginia? Ain't they bully good fellows down Bluefield way? Affectionately yours,

"HOBEC."

"Now, a joke is a joke, and in its place it's all right. But to be insulted in that manner by a blatherskite like Hobeck is no joke. His impudence was simply insufferable. But what could I do except howl and pray? My prayer has been answered; my hope will be realized as soon as I can get to Newark. Hobeck was arrested by Chief of Police J. S. Sheridan, of Newark, who is a fine fellow. He has my undying gratitude. This is the second time he arrested Hobeck in that town. He was on the lookout for him. He knew that Hobeck would return some time to see his sweetheart. We all knew it. Hobeck would have sneaked into Newark to see that girl some time or other, if there was a sixteen-foot wall built around the town and a detective's head poking over the wall at every three feet of its length.

"Good-by. When you see me again I will have Hobek with me, and he won't be in a humor to write any funny post-cards, either."

JURY FAILS TO AGREE IN JALLADE-RUEGER SUIT

New York Architect Claims Payment for Original Plans for Hotel.

RUEGER DENIES LIABILITY
Bids Far Exceeded Estimates of Architect, and Plans Were Rejected as Unavailable and Another Architect Retained.

After considering the case since Wednesday afternoon, the jury in the United States District Court reported yesterday to Judge Edmund Waddill, Jr., that it had failed utterly to reach an agreement as to the suit of Louis E. Jallade, of New York, against William Rueger, of this city. Judge Waddill discharged the jury and declared a mistrial.

In this action Jallade, a New York architect, sues Mr. Rueger for damages in the sum of $10,000, charging that the defendant failed to live up to the terms of a contract entered into between the two parties in connection with the construction of Rueger's Hotel at Ninth and Bank Streets.

Mr. Jallade, it appears, drew a set of plans for the hotel, and the building which were accepted by Mr. Rueger. The complainant charges that after contracting to use his plans and pay him the stipulated architect's fees, Mr. Rueger, after the lapse of a year, adopted the plans prepared by another architect, under whose direction the hotel was built.

COST FAR EXCEEDED PRELIMINARY ESTIMATE

The declaration sets forth that the defendant furnished Mr. Rueger with certain goods and commodities, presumably drawings and plans, valued at $4,800, for which he received no pay. The court is asked to grant damages in the sum of $10,000 to cover this and other losses.

Counsel for Mr. Rueger set up the defense that Mr. Jallade was commissioned to prepare plans for a structure to cost approximately $200,000. The plans prepared by the plaintiff, it is alleged, called for a building whose erection would have considerably exceeded that amount, and were, therefore, not in accordance with the contract between the two parties, and were unavailable.

Class Officers Chosen.

The senior class of the Highland Park High School has elected the following officers for this year: president, Linden Harrison; vice-president, Miss Margaret Hutchison; secretary, Miss Ruth Hudson; treasurer, Miss Ruth Wyatt; assistant treasurer, Miss Bessie Cross.

The High School Literary Society has elected the following officers: president, Miss Ruth Wyatt; vice-president, Miss Hutchison; secretary, Harold Hendon; censor, Bernard Cheatham, and critic, Linden Harrison.

Convicted on Six Charges.

Peter Townes, the negro on whom was found thirteen pawn tickets, for clothing disposed of in local shops by Detectives Bertucci, Smith and Duffy, who arrested him, was yesterday convicted of six different thefts in the Police Court and was sentenced to jail for two months on each charge. Townes formerly worked in Joseph Sanderland's cleaning and pressing establishment, and it is alleged he stole the clothes which were brought there for cleaning.

MILITARY BALL FOR WAR RELIEF

Soldiers in Uniform and Trained Nurses in White to Lend Color to Scene.

ABSOLUTELY NO FREE LIST

Prominent Women Lead Movement to Raise Funds for War-Stricken People.

Soldiers in full uniform and nurses in the white garb of their mission will gather at a ball to be given in the First Regiment Armory early in November in aid of the stricken peoples of the European war zone. The idea of thus raising a fund for those who have been left destitute and without present means of carrying on their daily existence came to Mrs. W. D. Thomson, Mrs. Caskie Cabell and Mrs. William H. White, who have formed themselves into a committee to gain the public and official support of their plan.

Unique in its conception, and promising all the flavor of excitement and entertainment attaching to a military ball, the idea at once gained ground, and is to-day the talk in military and social circles. Major Lawrence T. Price, commanding the First Battalion of the First Virginia Regiment, has given his permission for the use of the armory, and it but remains now for the Administrative Board to grant its permit. Use of any of the armories requiring an admission fee has been forbidden by the board, but, considering the object of the ball, and the deep-seated sympathy extant in this country for the suffering in Europe, it is confidently believed that the Administrative Board will look upon this occasion as the one exception to prove the rule.

FUND TO BE SENT TO AMERICAN RED CROSS
The cost of admission to the ball is to be only $1. There will be absolutely no free list, for all the money taken in is to be placed in the hands of the American Red Cross for the relief of those for whom all that part of the world at peace is working now. Because of its object, in which partisan and neutral are alike interested, this entertainment will appeal to every one in Richmond. Besides, it will be among the most brilliant balls ever given here. Governor Stuart and his staff of colonels in their gorgeous uniforms, all the military officers in the city and the soldier lads of every militia command are expected to attend, and each to bring his wife or her upon whom he has cast his eye.

A unique feature and one which is in perfect keeping with the idea and purpose of the entertainment is that all of the trained nurses, both graduate and undergraduate, are requested to be present in uniform. The white-robed nurses will afford a pleasing contrast to the brilliant uniforms and decorations of the soldiers. There have been other forms of entertainment for raising money for the European sufferers afloat, but none so unique and so appealing as this, and none in which all the people can make so happy and happily join their efforts for its success.

A meeting of the committee called by Mrs. Caskie Cabell, chairman, will be held at 10 o'clock to-morrow in the Jefferson Hotel. Reports of committees on refreshment, publicity, music, hospitals and nurses, reception and military will be received, and it will be decided whether this whole-hearted affair will be made.

CASE AGAINST MRS. WHITAKER IS SETTLED OUT OF COURT

There Will Be No Further Prosecution So Long as She Remains Out of the State.

There will be no further prosecution of the cases against Lillian Henley, alias Ruth Freeman, alias Mrs. Paula Whitaker, pending as she remains out of the State of Virginia. This sentence of exile was passed on the young woman by Justice Griggs in the Police Court yesterday when charges of passing worthless checks and of securing money under false pretenses were removed by Detective Sergeant Krougel. The dropping of the proceedings against the girl the efforts of the police to locate a young man who is said to have written the checks which she passed, and to have kept her supplied with new ones, will also be removed in Police Court yesterday morning that the young man's uncle had paid more than $160 in straightening out the tangled checks, and in doing so had secured promises to the effect that there would be no further prosecution. The name of the young man is known to the police, but he disappeared shortly after the woman was arrested, and has not been located. Several continuances in the case were secured before the hearing of yesterday, which postponed the case until yesterday morning that the young man's uncle had paid more than $160 in straightening out the tangled checks, and in doing so had secured promises to the effect that there would be no further prosecution.
